DALY'S "PROPERTY ARTIST."

Elliott Says He Had No Contract When He Left England.

Henry W. Elliott, the prepossessing young Englishman, whose return to England for having violated the Alien Labor Contract laws, was ordered by Secretary Carlisie, appeared before United States Commissioner Alexander to-day and made deposition touching his alleged contract with Augustin Daly, of Daly's Theatre.

The deposition is to be used in the writ brought by the Government against Daly to recover $1.000 penalty.

which he construed as a designer and superintendent of the entire effects of a theatrical stage.

Up to June last he for a year past had been in Daly's company in London at Daly's Theatre. There his weekly salary was $15. When the season closed Daly told him he could do much better in America than in England.

On his arrival on Aug. 20 Daly engaged him on the following Wednesday at $30 a week to do the same theatrical work. Mr. Elliott added, and it was stricken out of the deposition, that he regretted not having asked a good deal more. He borrowed $70 for his passage here from Daly, and has repaid $10 on account. He emphatically denied that any contract was made between himself and Daly in London.

Elliott will be sent back to England by the Emigration Commissioners either by next Saturday's or next Wednesday's steamer.

Staten Island Rapid Transit Company Desires a Settlement.

The interjection of a delicate legal stion into the fight over the Staten Island ferry franchise has more closely defined the issue between the Rapid Transit Company and Howard Carroll, purchaser of the lease.

man & Platt, called upon Comptroller Fitch and demanded that the sum of il75,000 be paid to the Staten Island Rapid Transit Company.

Comptroller Fitch explained that the money could not be paid just now, as he had no right to demand it from the new purchaser. Howard Carroll, until the lease was altered. The original lease, he explained, was made out from June 1, 1894, but as the sale took place in the last week of September such a lease could not be given.

He assured Mr. Gannon that all diligence was being employed, and requested him not to inconvenience the public by withdrawing the boats.

Mr. Gannon protested that he was doing everything for the public, and while he did not say it in so many words, he gave the Comptroller the impression that the boat service would be continued until the lease it executed.
